

The Little Me Growth Chart

Little Me
Childcare.

Opening Day!

As July 5th rapidly approaches, the excitement is in the air! Little Me is ready for all it's new attendees! A few reminders:

- Doors open at 7am and prompt pick-up by 6pm
- Enter from the Little Me front door
- Remember to bring your child's favorite nap items such as blanket, pillow, sheet, stuffed animal etc.
- Have a change of clothes to keep in his/her cubby.
- Remember the diapers and wipes.

- Label your child's Sippy cup with their name.
- All formula or breast milk needs to be labeled and the child's name and date mixed or pumped.
- Shot record and medical form must be on file no later than the first day of attendance.

Please save paper towel and toilet paper cardboard rolls and egg cartons for art projects.

Special Notes

Your child will be going through a lot of transitioning this first month. I want to reassure you that Gabi and I are here for each child in a loving and nurturing environment. We will take time with each child to comfort them and make sure they are comfortable. Please call as many times as you would like to check on your little one!

Little Me has an open door policy, so please stop by at anytime to visit.

Jenelle: 614-439-3274
Gabi: 614-596-8521

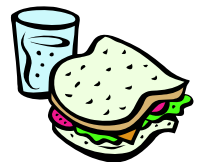

Volume 1, Issue 1

JULY 2010

Lunch Menu

- Check out the back of this newsletter for the July food menu.

Separation Anxiety

Starting a new daycare is a major life transition for both young children and their families. Change, even when it is a positive change can be stressful. There are specific measures that parents can take to ease the transition to care and alleviate separation anxiety.

- Recognize your own feelings
- Recognize your child's temperament

- Leave something behind
- Communicate with the caregiver
- Say Good-bye

July Happy Birthday

- Elizabeth

Next Issue:

- Monthly Dance Contest Winner
- News from the sandbox!